

Viruses

Viruses are not cells.

Viruses are much smaller than bacteria.

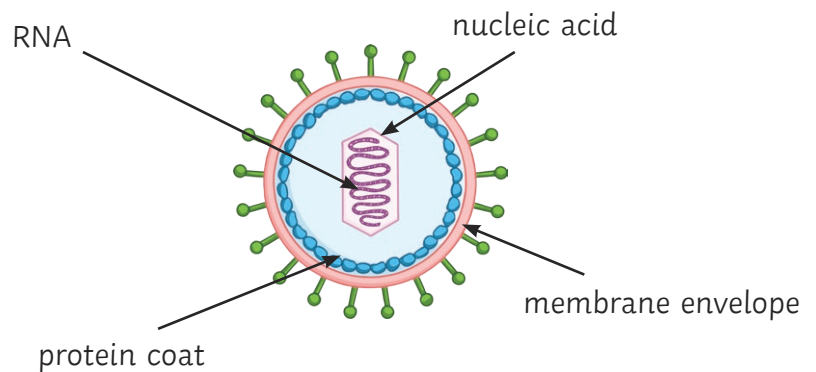

They reproduce rapidly inside host cells.

Viruses consist of genetic material and a protein coat.

It is cell damage that makes humans feel unwell.

Once inside a cell, viruses can make thousands of copies of itself, this continues until the cell bursts open.

Measles, mumps, chicken pox and colds are all caused by viruses.

Secondary

visit twinkl.com

Viruses

Viruses are not cells.

Viruses are much smaller than bacteria.

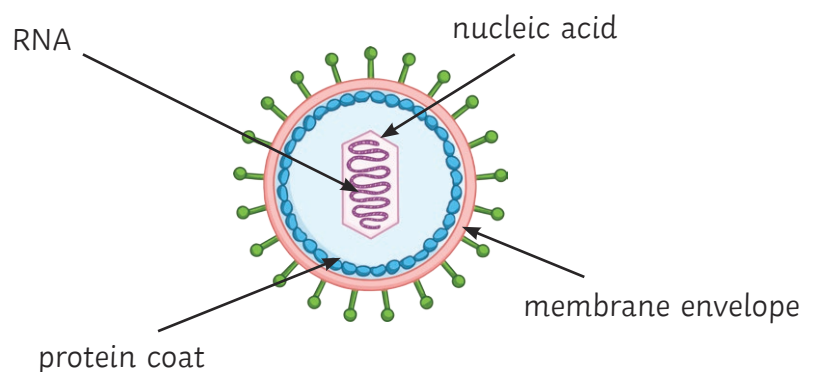

They reproduce rapidly inside host cells.

Viruses consist of genetic material and a protein coat.

It is cell damage that makes humans feel unwell.

Once inside a cell, viruses can make thousands of copies of itself, this continues until the cell bursts open.

Measles, mumps, chicken pox and colds are all caused by viruses.

Secondary

visit twinkl.com

